Facts On Resignation Of Secretary Given

position of private secretary to the president as of infinitely more importance than a cabinet portfolio. In the latter a view of only one department is obtained, and the secretary is hedged in by assistant secretaries and lots of red tape. At the White House a private secretary deals for the president with all executive departments as well as Congress. It has been regarded by some private secretaries as vastly more interesting and even more influential than a cabinet job. The private secretary can have the ear of the president.

Wanted P. O. Job
Mr. Slemm is said to have wanted to be postmaster general.
The political sides of presidents
in the past have gone to that post.
George Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national convention, at one time went there.
Frank Hitchcock, another Republican chairman, was named postmaster general, and Will Hays, Republican chairman in 1920,
was the most recent appointee to the same position.

Harry New postmaster general
by appointment of President.
Harding, was at one time a Republican national chairman. He has not yet announced whether he intends to stay on, though, after Tuesday's cabinet meeting this week. Mr. Coolidge asked him to remain. The story is that when that die was cast, Mr. Slemm's chances to be postmaster general at this time vanished. He left that day for New York on business, and while there news of his impending resignation leaked out.
It was officially confirmed.

Just what impelled Mr. Coolidge to ask Mr. New to stay is not yet clear, for it is known that apart from the case of Mr. Slemm
there were others whose names had been brought forward for the possible vacancy. The impression has been general that Mr.
New sought to retire to private life for personal reasons. There is said to be some internal politics in the postoffice department which led the president to insist upon Mr. New's staying in office, but it would not be surprising if this was only a temporary affair.

Heartily Commended
Representative Sanders is heartily commended by Mr. Slemm, who regards him as one of the ablest men for the job, particularly because of the wide acquaintance of the Indiana member of Congress with his colleagues in both houses.

Mr. Sanders was well enough regarded to be mentioned for the vice-presidency at the last Cleveland convention, but was vetoed by Senator James Watson, whose name was being brought forward at the same time.

Outwardly the scene is calm and there is no political upheaval.
But behind the scenes the pressure for political appointment is at its height as usual in the days preceding inauguration. The politicians who want the jobs say the incumbents have held on long enough and that other deserving Republicans ought to have a chance. And Mr. Coolidge, who recognizes party service as worthy of reward, is having a perplexing time meeting the demands of the men who may in 1928 decide the question of another presidential nomination for him.

Big Amount of Street Work Is Under Way

from Grand View avenue to the west city limits, on the north side, records show. This is the great new highway that will ultimately connect Glendale and Burbank with Pasadena by way of Sycamore and Scholl canyons.

Lake Street District
A number of big street jobs are either under way or scheduled for the recently annexed Lake street district. Allen avenue will be improved from San Fernando road to Victory boulevard, Irving avenue from Lake street to Flower street, and Flower street is to be improved, all with high grade base and top dressings. Raymond avenue from Victory boulevard to Flower street is another job in this district that is scheduled for the near future, records show, while Western avenue is also to be paved from San Fernando road to Victory boulevard.

In almost every section of the city, lesser street jobs are under way, totaling in the aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars and adding miles of paved streets to the high-class Glendale highway system, which is coming to be known and admired far and wide.

GLENDALE PUT OVER 'AIR' TONIGHT

Second Monthly Program on KFI Under Auspices of Commerce Body

Glendale, the Jewel City, its wonders, its joys, its advantages, will be broadcast in song and story over the west's most powerful radio sending station tonight. Between 9 and 10 o'clock the second monthly radio program under the direction of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, staged through the courtesy of KFI will be heard by radio from all over America, many hundreds of whom are anticipating the opportunity, having been issued invitations through the mail by Glendale friends and relatives to "tune in."

Two prominent members of the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club, Mrs. Frank N. Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Mottern, will open the program with a group of vocal duets. They will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Florence Hoover Rogers. Miss Mottern will also sing several solo numbers.

A series of six semi-classical vocal compositions will be given by Melford C. Jackson, Glendale artist. Mr. Jackson will be accompanied by May Orcutt. The Lane Trio will complete the musical program with Hawaiian musical selections.

The story of Glendale will be told briefly in a ten-minute address by Bert P. Woodard, Glendale attorney and well-known speaker. No other talks will be given.

Two Inducements

A feature that will induce hundreds of easterners to tune in on Glendale is the offer of the Chamber of Commerce on request to mail a souvenir photograph of the 1925 Glendale butterfly float which captured first prize in the Tournament of Roses.

Then hundreds of Glendaleans have, upon the instance of the Chamber of Commerce, written advance notices to friends and relatives in other parts of the country, inviting them to tune in while Glendale is on the air. Due to the fact that the program will be broadcast over the new 1500 watt, KFI super-station, it will be readily audible anywhere east of the Rocky Mountains as well as in all parts of western America.

The Glendale radio entertainment is staged under the direction of Gould H. Warren, Glendale realtor; R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation, and J. Arthur Myers, musician and leader of the community symphony orchestra. These three compose the radio committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Programs over KFI are to be given each month by the chamber. The next such program will be given March 7, according to plans of the committee.

Complete Program

The full program to be broadcast follows: The program: Vocal duet, "Mother Dear" (Jefferson); "It Was a Lover and His Lass" (Waltham); "I Waited for the Lord" (Mendelssohn), by Mrs. Frank N. Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Mottern, of the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club; Florence Hoover Rogers, accompanist; vocal solo, "Would God I Were the Tender Apple Blossom;" "Snowflakes" (Cowan), by Miss Mottern, accompanied by Miss Rogers; "Sunset" (Dudley Buck); "Thank God for a Garden" (Del Riego); "Song of Love" from "Blossom Time;" "Dawn in the Desert" (Gertrude Rose); "Homing" (Del Riego); "In an Old-Fashioned Town" (Squire), sung by Melford C. Jackson, accompanied by May Orcutt; Lane Trio, Hawaiian music selections; address, "Glendale, the Jewel City," by Bert P. Woodard, Glendale attorney.

Local Lecturer Writes Of Work for Brunswick

In a letter received yesterday by Mrs. Harry James of 1558 East Wilson avenue from Mr. James, who is in San Francisco giving lectures for the Brunswick Phonograph Co., Mr. James wrote he has been appearing before students of the University of California at Berkeley, women's and luncheon clubs. He recently gave a lecture before fifteen hundred young women at a private school in Oakland. He said the Brunswick people are planning "Brunswick night" over the radio, when all Brunswick artists will appear on the program. The program will be broadcast from station KGO at Oakland on February 24. Mr. James has received requests to lecture at Sacramento, Santa Rosa and Sebastopol on the last of this month and also in February. His picture will appear on the front page of the booklet, "Radio Past," an announcement of his appearance on a program on January 29.

COLLEGE CLUB TO SING AT CHURCH

Pomona Women to Appear at First Congregational Tomorrow Night

Glendale students and friends of Pomona college are interested in the concert to be given tomorrow night at First Congregational church, North Central and West Wilson avenues, by the Pomona College Women's Glee club of twenty members, under the direction of Arthur Babcock, vocal instructor at the college. The public is invited to attend the service.

This organization, which is the only choral group of the college women, was organized in 1912. The club has developed from year to year, until today extensive concert tours are taken and club programs are in great demand. In addition to the fine direction of Mr. Babcock, the club has Miss Ruth Harper as accompanist. She is said to be equally talented as a piano soloist and accompanist.

Soloists are Misses Eveline Townsend and Marjorie Hall, both contraltos. Several quartet numbers are included in the club's repertoire, the four singers being Miss Elizabeth Miller, first soprano; Miss Helen Hankey, second soprano; Miss Marjorie Hall, first alto, and Miss Lillian Widmer, second alto.

Members of Club

Composing the club are: Alice Elliott, Dorothy Doughty, Margaret Brisco, Chrissy Hotchkiss, Alice Powers, first soprano; Helen Hankey, Evelyn Payne, Ruth Harper, Elizabeth Miller, Dorothy Dreher, second soprano; Mary Rideout, Marjorie Hall, Sylvia Stead, Helen Reacker, Hilda Suydam, first alto; Lillian Widmer, Eveline Townsend, Katherine Howard, Dorothy Strong, Ruth Schaefer, second alto.

WAR OF 1812 IS HELD LIVE NEWS

Battle With Indians, Rules For Uniforms Given In Edition of June, 1813

F. Sturgess, president of the Sister Polly Candy corporation, 223 South Brand boulevard, brought to The Evening News of today an interesting newspaper, an edition of the Buffalo Gazette, published Tuesday, June 1, 1813.

Events of the War of 1812 are told in various items of the positions and movements of the armies. In addition there are several accounts of encounters with the Indians, particularly on the frontiers.

One unusually interesting item is headed "Changes in the Uniform of the Army of the United States." It reads, "The coat of the infantry shall be uniform blue; no red collars or cuffs; and no lace shall be worn by any grade excepting in epaulettes and sword knots. All officers will wear coats of the length of those worn by field officers; all the rank and file will wear coats. The button holes of these will be trimmed with tape on the collar only. Leather caps will be substituted for felt, and worsted or cotton pompons for feathers. General officers and all others of the general staff, not otherwise directed, shall wear cockade hats, without feathers. The epaulettes of major generals will have on the gold ground of each strap two silver stars."

Among the articles advertised by S. Brown, dry goods merchant, conducting a store at the house of Mr. Pomery in the village of Buffalo, are teas, tobacco, indigo, English blistered steel and old whiskey by the barrel.

NEW OFFICERS OF KIWANIS INSTALLED

Annual Dinner Is Held at Oakmont Country Club; Over 200 Attend

Never, perhaps, have the spacious rooms at the Oakmont Country club been the scene of a more festive and joyous occasion than last night, when Glendale Kiwanians, their wives and friends gathered for the annual dinner and installation of officers and directors.

Promptly at 7 o'clock President Frank Fox, wielding his gavel—a claw-hammer provided especially for the event—was the signal that seated the more than 200 happy Kiwanians for dinner.

Seldom is it that such a colorful gathering is assembled for a men in their formal evening dress and the women attired in their beautiful gowns altogether presented a sight that was not only beautiful, but inspiring as well, when the real purpose of the meeting—the installation of the 1925 officers and directors who will guide the destinies of the Glendale Kiwanis club for the year to come—became known.

Dr. Young in Charge

Dr. T. C. Young, chairman of the Inaugural committee, and Sid Brown, Emil O. Klefer, Harry E. Hall and Eddy Herring, his assistants and co-workers in planning and carrying out last night's program, have been the recipients today of the congratulations and appreciation of Glendale Kiwanians for the splendid manner in which all of the arrangements were made.

After the formal opening of the meeting by President Frank Fox, an interesting program was presented which included several musical numbers. Outstanding on this musical program were the numbers given by the Glendale Kiwanis double male quartet, who sang "Bells of the Sea" and their famous menagerie number, "Down in Jungle Land."

Mrs. Green Pleases

Other numbers that were very much appreciated were the vocal and harp selections rendered by Mrs. Hazel Brewster, harpist, and Gilman Williams, tenor. Mr. Williams sang, "Mother March," "Mandaly," "Sweet Re-frain" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Mrs. Max Green left the memory of a very charming personality, and proclaimed herself a monologist of no mean ability, when she gave "When Men Propose," a comic monologue, written by Marjorie Benton Cook.

Dr. Young then introduced the members of his committee and thanked them for their efforts and co-operation in making the program a success, after which Rev. Charles A. Calderwood, who was in charge of the formal installation of officers, was introduced.

Fun and Laughter

Rev. Calderwood amply demonstrated the fact that he is not only a preacher of the gospel, but a humorist as well, for the many questions which he propounded—while administering his private instructions and oath of office—were provocative of a great deal of fun and laughter.

William G. Bode, living up to the Kiwanis ideal of service, proved that he was always ready to serve, and that, furthermore, he would always come back, when at almost a moment's notice he rendered two splendid saxophone solos. Mr. Bode played despite the fact that it has been nearly a year since he has made any pretense of playing the sax.

Drawing of attendance prizes occasioned many "Oh's!" and "Ah's!" among the ladies, for the prizes were for them, while the men whose names were drawn from the hat were assessed fines ranging from 5 to 25 cents.

Prize Winners

The fortunate ones were Mrs. T. W. Watson, Mrs. Charles Sherrod, Mrs. John D. Fraser, Mrs. Frank Fox, Miss Julia Robinson, Miss Edith Mae Nelson, Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Mrs. Ed Radke, Mrs. Calderwood, Mrs. Harry E. Hall, Mrs. Herman Nelson, Mrs. Merrill D. Davis and Mrs. Robert Adams. Emil Klefer was awarded the men's prize.

Special attendance prizes were given by Charles Hatz, Ole Andersen, R. M. Brown, Bert Perry, W. C. Winkler, William G. Bode, W. G. Lauderdale, Dave Gregg, Frank Echols, Fred B. Walton, Charles B. "Spud" Murphy, A. L. Baird and "Bill" William A. Horn.

"Hail Kiwanis," sung by the entire club, brought the meeting to a close, after which followed two hours of dancing. The Corn Dance orchestra furnished the music.

W. F. Tower Gives Views On Attempt to Put Partisan Politics Into City Affairs

Editor The Evening News—I am not a Republican and, therefore, not especially concerned with the party's internal differences, provided they do not affect the public good. Their recent discussion resulting in a decision to inject partisan politics into our city affairs is, however, a matter not to be disregarded.

To the careful observer from the east the absence of partisan politics in municipal and county affairs has been one of California's crowns of glory. I have resided in Glendale going on ten years, and, on the whole, I believe that Glendale has been well governed, not perfect, of course. And it is a matter of record that at no time has a candidate's views on state and national politics weighed either for or against him, and this is absolutely right.

Boss-Ridden Cities

Compare that with most of the boss-ridden municipalities of the east, where, unless a man was branded with the political brand of the dominant party, he could not even serve as dogcatcher. I remember of one instance where a contractor to run a water wagon to sprinkle the streets was cancelled. When inquiring why, the contractor was told by the boss: "You do not vote our ticket." Chicago, Philadelphia and New York are examples of partisan-controlled city affairs.

All this talk of a strictly political club operating on a non-partisan basis is absurd. "To the victor belongs the spoils" is a rule as unerring in the conduct of political bodies as the law of gravitation. Camouflage all you please with honeyed words and declaration of the dear public's interest, it is still the bane of a good, straightforward business conduct of town affairs.

If this or any other club, political, social or religious, is to become the trustee of our home city, a self-constituted body, why waste time and taxes to hold elections for council, school board or bonds? If a board of censors, weigh, analyze and O. K. all aspirants and to scour the woods for sound timber to put into the ship of state, why not organize a body for that particular task? Why overburden an organization that is trying to save the state and nation? Why employ a square peg to fit a round hole? Fit the man to the job, not the job to the man. Not attempt to have the tail wag the dog, but the dog wag the tail. Be a citizen first and a partisan afterward.

Let us not return to the tallow candle, the stage coach, the horseback courier or a partisan politically-administered local government. Rather let it be Glendale straight ahead!

Ella W. Richardson Says Loyal Republicans Stand For Non-Partisan Politics

Editor, The Evening News—First—Just a word of appreciation for our Glendale News, promoting constructive and right action on all subjects, at all times.

Second—To say I am sure you voice the opinion of almost every Glendale person and loyal Republican in your staunch stand for non-partisan politics, as to Glendale city government.

I am not a member of the Glendale Republican club as it was launched the night of the Republican victory dinner and most of our prominent Republican workers were at the Los Angeles celebration including yours truly, A. Republican club, conducted as such, can do much good. I'll be glad to join it.

Glendale has a good citizenship which can vote wisely and well for the best suited candidates put up on this field without a Republican machine.

ELLA W. RICHARDSON.

Humane Society Names Nominating Committee

F. S. Card, Dr. A. Richman and Mrs. E. Zink, compose the nominating committee, appointed last night at the meeting of the Humane society to prepare a ballot for the election next Friday night at the annual meeting at the city hall. Several reports were presented last night. There have been twenty-one dogs received at the shelter and later found good homes. Since it is necessary that anyone taking a dog from the shelter take out a membership in the society, the membership has increased. Decision was made that all dogs picked up by the poundmaster and brought to the shelter, shall be held five days before being placed in homes.

SCIOIS HOSTS TO MASONIC FRIENDS

Glendale Order Give Social Dance and Program At Temple

Masons and their wives were the guests of Glendale Pyramid Ancient Order of Egyptian Sciois at a social dance and entertainment at the Masonic temple last night. The occasion was especially marked by the attendance of a number of high officers of the order including Ray W. Baker of Fresno, recently elevated to the high office of Pharaoh by the supreme pyramid. It was Pharaoh Baker's first official visit to Glendale. He was accompanied by District Deputy Pharaoh A. Y. Tully of Los Angeles. Other guests were: Toparch Charles Emery Wright and Scribe Frank Witherell of Los Angeles Pyramid No. 30, Toparch Lloyd E. Roach of Santa Ana Pyramid No. 41, Scioi G. A. Cotterell, scribe, and the chancellor of Long Beach Pyramid No. 43. The meeting of Sciois was held in the upper lodge room of the temple, where the visitors were officially received by the Pyramid, Toparch Robert E. Johnston being in charge. Toparch Johnston is also an officer of the Supreme Pyramid, and was received as such for the first time by Glendale Pyramid. Short addresses were made by Pharaoh Baker, Deputy Tully, Toparch Roach, Toparch Wright and Scribe Witherell.

Movies Shown

Motion pictures of different events at the convention of the grand pyramid at Redding, Cal., in September were shown. Musical numbers were furnished by the Glendale Scioi band, and the Scioi troop of Boy Scouts gave an exhibition drill and patriotic tribute to the flag. The boys were under the leadership of Scout Master Lowery and Harold Thompson, chairman of the Boy Scout committee. Dancing in the lower hall at the temple was enjoyed by the large crowd following the entertainment. Toparch R. E. Johnston announced that in the future one meeting each month will be devoted to musical events at which all Master Masons and visiting Sciois and their wives will be welcome.

Veterans Give Thanks For Glendale's Help

Mrs. John Robert White, jr., chairman of Glendale Red Cross, is receiving messages from soldiers, who received Christmas packages from Glendale. One note comes from Private Arnold Ridings, Schofield barracks, Honolulu, saying: "I want to thank you for the package I received for Christmas and I must say it was very nice of you. It was most appropriate the way the packages were fixed up—everything that a soldier needs. I hope to hear from you in the near future and wish the American Red Cross a happy and prosperous New Year." William Wells writes a card from Sawtelle, "To ladies and gentlemen of the twenty-three clubs and societies and individuals who so kindly remembered us this Christmas: May you all enjoy health, happiness and prosperity many years." L. H. Rude, Spanish American veteran, says: "Thanking you and associated organizations for your remembrances, wishing you a happy new year."

LAW CLUB JOINS NATIONAL ORDER

Local Organization Given Membership In General Federation, Report

Glendale's part in national affairs of women's clubs, has been strengthened by the membership taken out by the Parliamentary Law club of Glendale in the General Federation of Women's clubs. Formal acceptance into membership was voiced in a letter read yesterday at the club meeting at the public library. This club is now a unit of district, state and general federation.

Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, for twelve years president of the Los Angeles county, W. C. T. U., was guest speaker yesterday. She spoke on the qualifications of a president, stressing personality, being well informed, and due recognition of the wish of the minority. She stated that some of the greatest movements known in America have risen from minorities.

Several new members were received into the club yesterday. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, president, is to be a speaker at a reciprocity day at Lankershim.

FIRE DAMAGES AUTO

An automobile fire in a garage at the rear of 220 South Brand boulevard did $200 damage on Friday to a car owned by Charles Lang, it is reported by Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department. The call came in at 12 o'clock and the blaze was reported out at 12:20. An acetylene welding torch is said to have caused the fire. The proprietor of the garage is J. Ferguson, the report shows.

SOUTHWEST IS HEADED INTO RICH PATH

Southern California Enters New Year In Brightest Outlook In History

That Southern California in fact the whole Southwest has entered the new year with brighter prospects than at any time in its history is brought out in an article appearing in the January issue of Southern California Business, the official magazine of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Despite the vicissitudes of a few scares during the year which had a slight effect on business, the Southwest rounded out 1924 far ahead of 1923. While scares are supposed to have a direful effect on business, it is shown that the false rumors circulated throughout the country about this section had very little effect.

All this is demonstrated in the totals for the year. While complete figures for the entire southwest or even for Southern California are not yet available, it is known that building operations have run well over the $200,000,000 mark, which is greater than the totals for 1920 and 1921 combined.

Bank Clearings

Similar conditions are shown in bank clearings. In Los Angeles the total for 1924 reached the high record mark of $7,194,525.373, and it is conservatively estimated that those of the southwest including Los Angeles will reach the record breaking total for this territory of close to $9,000,000,000.

Still more significant in computing the accomplishments of the past year appears the influx of new industries. It is within bounds to state that during 1924 at least 800 new industries were added to those already in the southwest. It is carefully estimated that the products from all the industrial plants in this section will total at least $1,600,000,000, an increase of approximately $60,000,000 over 1923.

California's Gain

All these figures tend to show but one thing, and that is that the gain for Southern California and in fact the entire southwest has been very material but not of the skyrocket type. The gains in the past two years have been steady and even increasing. There has been no boom spirit or rapid spurts and there have been no recessions during the year.

So despite the fact that there were a few scares that did practically no damage and the further fact that 1924 was a campaign year, the records stacked up in advance of other years show decidedly for the good.

A GREAT AMBITION—

With an unwillingness to work is self-mockery.
Must always precede a great success.
Is the surge of divinity within the soul.
Is a mother's choicest gift to her son.
Becomes folly when not founded on careful training.
Is usually an unrelenting task-master.
Must be accompanied by a great devotion to duty.

SOUTHERN BRANCH SITE

Although there has been no announcement that a site has been selected for the Southern Branch of the University of California, newspapers throughout the south have for several days been taking it for granted, editorially, that the Palos Verdes location has been chosen by the committee, without the formality of looking over the other sites offered. And of course every community that has offered a site for the university is aggrieved.

It would seem that these papers are a little premature in airing their dissatisfaction, since the committee has not yet made a report. On Wednesday they visited the Burbank location and expressed delight that such a tract is available.

The San Bernardino Sun complains that "The committee selected to recommend a site to the board of regents has already selected the Palos Verdes site and the selection was made without even viewing other locations proposed."

And the Santa Ana Register says, "None can fail to resent the attitude that has been assumed by the Southern Branch committee. The committee, according to the best information obtainable, has settled upon a site for the proposed Southern Branch of the University of California without giving other sites any consideration." The Register goes on to say that the committee evidently wants the university located within the shadow of Broadway, hence the Palos Verdes site. But, if this charge were true and the city of Los Angeles wished to dictate the location, Burbank would certainly be chosen as most convenient to "Broadway."

Riverside is the most aggrieved of all. If the university goes to some other location than the one offered near that city the citrus experiment station owned by the University of California and located at Riverside will go with the University. Riverside loses what she already has.

It may be that these editors have inside information as to what the committee proposes to do, but it would seem the part of wisdom for each community to use its efforts in presenting its site in a favorable way to the committee until the final report is made. Only one site can be selected. Let us hope the committee will be favorable to the location near Glendale.

CRIMINALS ON THE SEA

A decision was recently handed down by a federal judge to the effect that ships under foreign flags which conspire with United States citizens to break our laws are equally guilty with them and may be seized wherever found on the high seas, except within the jurisdiction of some other nation. If the Supreme Court upholds this decision it will be another blow for the rum-runners.

In the days when the slave trade and piracy flourished it was held that the open sea was a place of common jurisdiction for the civilized nations of the world and not a refuge for law-breakers, so, no matter under what flag a slaver or a pirate ship was sailing, she was ruthlessly sunk.

It is an international law that when a fugitive from justice gets within the territorial jurisdiction of another nation, or even on a foreign ship he has refuge, unless the second nation wishes to surrender him. But when a foreign flag, itself, is used as a cover for the commission of a crime against this country, the flag should not be a protection for those who have wrongfully used it.

When the world was not so small, the open sea was looked upon as a sort of no-man's land, where the law-breaker was safe from arrest, but as the nations get closer together, the fugitive from justice will be unable to find immunity on the high seas.

DEEDS AND MOTIVES

Among the maxims of La Rochefoucauld we find this: "However brilliant an action may be it ought not to pass for great when it is not the result of a great design." And again he expressed the same idea when he said, "Although men pride themselves on their great actions, these are often the result, not of any great design, but of chance."

It is our motives more than our deeds that count, although our acts may be seen of men and our purposes hidden in our own hearts. The world may cheer us or hiss us as the case may be, not knowing the purpose back of our deed or choosing to ignore that purpose if they do know it. But when the recording angel comes to balance up the books of our lives we will find as entries in the ledger the designs, motives and purposes back of our acts, and they will be entered on the credit or debit sides according as they were good or evil.

RESPECTABLE CITIZENS

A writer who declares that he doesn't criticize the prohibition law—he just looks on and wonders, observes that the immense profits of the bootleggers are due to the fact that multitudes of the most wealthy and most respectable citizens are determined to have and use intoxicating drinks, law or no law; and that the immense fines paid by the bootlegger and the marvelous profits of his business prove conclusively that it is not a poor, criminal, and depraved class that support the business, but our best, most respectable citizens.

Very good argument, but there might be a difference of opinion as to who are "our best, most respectable citizens." He would seem to intimate that, being wealthy, they are respectable and should be beyond the law. If they were not wealthy they would belong to the "poor, criminal and depraved class" and their determination to have what they wanted, "law or no law," would of course be all wrong then.

'BIG BILL' WOULD COME BACK

"Big Bill" Hayward, anarchist, wants to return to America, even though the doors of Leavenworth prison will swing open to receive him when once he sets foot on our soil again. Russia did not prove to be the land of hope that he had predicted. He was welcomed by the Bolsheviks, but he says that the communists had "dirty work" laid out for him to do—work so repulsive that he fled the country in order to avoid it, and at the same time save his life, and he has arrived, sick and weary, at the Caucasus. Like Emma Goldman, "Big Bill" found that the form of government he would have created in the United States, had his ambition been realized, does not prove out in practice.

And we always do tomorrow what we should have done today.

FORE AND AFT!

Propaganda

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Anyone that believes anything strongly, and expresses it clearly, is a propagandist. A propagandist is one who wants to bring other people to his way of thinking.

Most of us are propagandists, some of us are hostile, offensive in manner, positive, dogmatic and full of rough corners. Some of us are smooth and polite. But anybody who believes in what he believes in and is not swayed by the opinions of anybody he is with, is pretty apt to be a propagandist.

A great many people have moral convictions. That is, they think some things are right and some are wrong. When people who have no convictions at all, or a conviction that everything is wrong, come up against a man who thinks some things are right, they are pretty apt to criticize him.

Most critics have no moral background. They have no positive beliefs of their own. Their belief consists in merely disbelieving in other people's beliefs.

Whatever a man thinks, they are against it.

and especially if he thinks something cheerful and optimistic.

For some reason, it is assumed to be very superior to be cynical—to believe in nothing and to hate everybody. People who believe in things and love everybody are called Pollyannas and sobs, and other hard names. But the fact remains that the world wants more cheer than it wants people who are ready to pull its nose.

It may seem superior to love rainy days, and want to see hospitals full, to hate women and children, and to be offended by laughter, but this sense of superiority is hardly shared by others. Edgar Saltus said that "Whoever commiserates with all mankind, and sympathizes with everything that is, cannot see life otherwise than as an immense and terrible affliction." This unhappy belief was held by Mr. Saltus, and he labored hard to make it popular.

Just what the pessimists want to bring about, whether misery on this earth or annihilation hereafter, it is hard to say. But whatever it will be, it will be unpleasant.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Moore opines (in Sovereign Woman) that Disguise our bondage as we will,
The woman, woman rules us still.

Comes now Mrs. Helena Norman, Britain's first woman barrister, with the prediction that within 25 years the United States probably will have a woman president, and her own country a woman prime minister.

Why not? Elizabeth and Victoria were the ablest sovereigns Britain has ever had, they will tell you over there. In our own day Holland, with its extensive foreign possessions, prospers under Wilhelmina.

George Bernard Shaw is one who believes women make better rulers than men.

"Among other things, a woman can manage men much more effectively than a man can, and gets them to work more intelligently and more loyally. The majority of masculine sovereigns and heads of republics pick the most obviously unfitted persons for offices of state. As a rule, women do their own choosing much better. And men work under a woman with less friction; the relations between woman and man are never quite so strained as between man and man."

"The fact is that women are never quite as big fools as men. Whatever their defects may be, they are never handicapped by man's impracticability and sentimentality. Women have to have common sense. They must have it because it is they who are responsible for the bread and butter arrangements. They get practice in managing things by having to keep their homes in order. Men leave it all to them, and go and amuse themselves. They have turned a job into a sport. It has passed into a proverb, 'playing the game.'"

Men make such a hopeless mess of politics because once they get talking among themselves about anything they go on talking and do nothing. Men imagine that if they talk enough about anything they are sure to accomplish something, and more often than not they talk so long about nothing that they end by convincing themselves that nothing is something. That is the sort of thing women don't do."

Well, with two women governors in office, we shall see.

In a poll of 25,000 clergymen conducted recently by the Christian Century, a leading church periodical, Samuel Parkes Cadman was designated as one of the twenty-five most influential pastors in America.

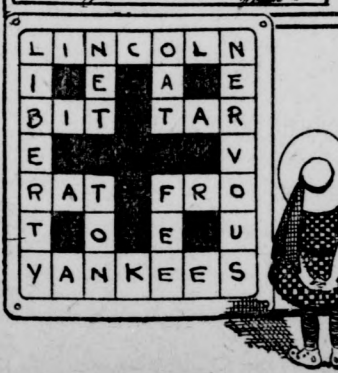

As further attestation of his leadership The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America which met in Atlanta, Georgia, during the past year named Dr. Cadman president of the Council to take the place of Robert E. Speer, retiring president. He is the first pastor to become president of the Council.

Born at Wellington, Shropshire, England, December 18, 1864, the son and grandson of a Methodist minister, Dr. Cadman devoted his scholarly efforts at Richmond, college, London, to philology and the classics. He took his D. D. degree at Wesleyan, Connecticut and Syracuse universities in 1898, was made an S. T. D. by Columbia university in 1913 and a D. H. L. by the University of Vermont the same year.

Dr. Cadman is known as a pulpit orator, is widely read, hard headed and a man with breadth of information and vision. He is chairman of the Twenty-third regiment, N. Y. N. G., a trustee of the Hartford Theological seminary, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Adelphi college, Union Missionary Training Institute, a director of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions (Congregational), the Congregational Home Mission society and the Brooklyn Clerical Union.

Among the books Dr. Cadman has written are: "Charles Darwin and Other English Thinkers," "The Victory of Christmas," "The Religious Uses of Memory," "Life of William Owen," "The Three Religious Leaders of Oxford" and "Ambassadors of God."

FREIGHT CARS HINT VOLUME OF TRADE

Infallible Indicator Points
To Records Showing
Business State

While measuring prosperity by counting loaded cars may be nothing new in the business world, it is at least one of the infallible ways of gauging the extent of business advancement, says Southern California Business, the official magazine of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

When it was announced in November, 1922, that the railroads had handled revenue freight to a total of 999,718 carloads for a single week, it was considered an excellent record. Then came the figures for the corresponding week of 1923 which ran up to 1,073,841 carloads. But it remained for the corresponding week of 1924 to run ahead of the others with a total of 1,112,345 carloads. These figures cover the loadings for the entire country showing the general trend of increased prosperity.

Coming down to our own section, known in railroad circles as the southwestern division of railroad activities, we find a proportionately greater increase for the week ending October 25. From data issued by the American Railway association, Car Service Division, Washington, D. C., it is found that for the single seven-day period the revenue freight loaded in the Southwest amounted to 81,983 carloads as against 74,488 carloads for the same week of 1923 and 62,692 carloads for the corresponding week of 1922.

What They Did

It is shown that the railroads having terminals in Los Angeles in 1923 handled revenue tons of freight in the following order: Union Pacific System, 34,100,000 carloads; Southern Pacific, 35,400,000; Santa Fe, 33,900,000. For the year ending with 1922 the figures were: Union Pacific, 30,400,000 carloads; Southern Pacific, 28,700,000; Santa Fe, 28,900,000.

It is stated that of the Union Pacific carload record, there was handled over the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Division 3,400,000 carloads for 1921, a total of 4,500,000 for 1922 and for 1923, 5,800,000 carloads.

9,853,145 Tons Of Crops Grown In California

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Previous reports of the prosperous condition of California farmers are borne out by data just available on the volume and price returns for 1924 crops. Despite drought and the foot and mouth disease, California farmers grew 9,853,145 tons of fruit and field crops which was 17 per cent less than in 1923.

For the same crops, however, they received $368,427,000 or only $2,000,000 less than the amount netted by the better and bigger crops of the previous year. Hay was the largest and most profitable of all California field crops in 1924, the output being 4,823,000 tons, which sold for $104,650,000, an average of $21 a ton.

Pomona Valley Board Adopts 3-Way Policy

The Pomona Valley Realty board started the new year by adopting a resolution to become a three-way board. This decision is the outcome of a very successful year in 1924. The board will install a multiple listing system. The annual election of officers resulted in the re-election of Frank C. Eells as president as well as William C. Anderson, secretary. President Eells reported Pomona valley as steadily advancing, with a large amount of building and splendid prospects for the citrus products, which were not damaged by the cold weather.

SHORTAGE OF DWELLINGS IS LOWER

More Houses Built In Last
Six Months But Rents
Fail To Decline

By J. C. ROYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The shortage of dwellings throughout the United States has been steadily decreasing for the last six months but tenants in most instances have to dig just as deeply into the family exchequer as ever when rent day comes around. The decline in need for business structures has been even more marked but business men in only a small percentage of the representative centers have had their rentals lowered. In both cases, the indication of increased business activity and prosperity in the next six months forecasts few changes downward.

A survey covering 259 cities shows that at present only 51 per cent of these have housing shortages while the needs of 49 per cent are fully supplied. When the year opened, however, 65 per cent of the representative centers announced rents stationary, 17 per cent showed advances and 18 per cent had reductions. The fall in rents was most marked in the north central section of the country, where 50 per cent of the cities have lower rent levels. On the other hand 62 per cent of the cities in the southwest showed advances.

There is more demand for single family dwellings at this time than for any other class of structures, but even those cities which report shortages indicate that the undersupply is slight. This fact indicates, however, that in the next twelve months the greatest increase in real estate activity will be in properties of this sort.

Large Cities Prepared

The larger cities are fast catching up with the needs for dwellings but the smaller cities still are far from reaching a normal ratio between demand and supply. It is an interesting fact that scores of the smaller cities indicate a lack of apartment houses. Even the suburban districts, which formerly were composed of small homes for the most part, now are building apartments. This trend is noticeable at summer and winter resorts and in the sections within commuting distance of the larger cities.

In twenty-seven cities there has been over building of one type or another in the last few months and it is easy to overestimate the importance of the present deficiency in other places.

In only 26 per cent of the representative cities there is a lack of business structures. In spite of that fact business rents have advanced in 45 per cent of these; are stationary in 47 per cent and have fallen in only 8 per cent. The decreases have been mostly in the south central part of the country, where landlords dropped charges in 86 per cent of the cities.

Farm Buildings

The level of business rentals undoubtedly has been affected appreciably by the general optimism about business prospects. Landlords are confident that an expansion of business will mean an expansion of demand and are unwilling to renew leases or make new ones for long periods at prices at or below those obtaining in the last six months. In the southwest 76 per cent of the cities have raised business rents since last June while the Great Lakes and north Atlantic districts also boosted prices in more than half their cities.

The shortage of farm buildings has grown rather than decreased since there virtually has been falling in the last three years in this kind of construction. This shortage is expected to translate itself into active building demand this spring. The trend of manufacturing plants away from the larger cities owing to the fact that land values in such centers have risen until it has become uneconomical to use city property for industrial purposes will account for considerable commercial building in the next six months.

The importance of the building program to the country as a whole and to a wide number of industries is shown by the fact that in building the typical six room lumber dwelling, 20 per cent of the cost goes for the lot, 31 per cent for labor, 29 per cent for material, 12 per cent for contractors' overhead and profit; 2 per cent for real estate fees and miscellaneous expenses, and 6 per cent for the architect and plans. For a brick or stone building the labor charge is higher.

Income Tax Problems Are Solved By Expert

Questions regarding amount of income tax to be paid for the year 1924 under the federal statutes are answered in this column by Rex B. Goodcell, Collector of Internal Revenue, in charge of the Los Angeles district. Similar questions and answers will appear from time to time in The Glendale Evening News.

Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, and in charge of the Los Angeles district, has prepared for The Glendale Evening News a list of questions and answers pertaining to the payment and amount of the income tax on incomes for 1924. Other questions and answers will appear in the columns of The Glendale Evening News later. Today's list follows:

Under the new revenue act the amount an individual may deduct as personal exemption is not determined by his status on the last day of the period for which the return is made, as was the procedure under the revenue act of 1921, under which returns were filed last year. The new law provides that in case the status of a taxpayer changes during the taxable year, the personal exemption shall be the sum of an amount which bears the same ratio to $1000 as the number of months during which the taxpayer was single bears to twelve months, plus an amount which bears the same ratio to $2500 as the number of months during which the taxpayer was a married person living with husband or wife or was the head of a family bears to twelve months. For this purpose a fractional part of a month shall be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it shall be considered as a full month.

I was unmarried until November 28, 1924, on which date I was married. What exemption may I claim?

Husband and wife are entitled to $916.67 each as single exemption, and a joint married exemption of $208.33; a total exemption of $2,041.67.

I was married and living with my wife up until December 2, 1924, on which date I obtained a decree of separation. What exemption may I claim?

Your married exemption is $2291.67 which may be divided between husband and wife. In addition each is entitled to a single person's exemption of $83.33.

My wife died October 3, 1924. What exemption may I claim?

If an individual dies during the taxable year, his executor or administrator in making a return for him is entitled to claim his personal exemption according to his status at the time of his death. If a husband or wife so dies the joint personal exemption may be used by the executor or administrator in making a return for the decedent, and an undiminished personal exemption, according to the status of the survivor at the end of the taxable year, may be claimed in the survivor's return.

Up until December 15, 1924, I had three children under eighteen years of age and incapable of support, on which date one died. My net income for 1924 was $2,950. Am I allowed $400 for each child or a total of $1200?

No. As you had only two children living December 31, 1924, you are allowed a personal exemption of $400 for each child, or $800, plus $2500 for a married man. The credit for a dependent is fixed as of the last day of your taxable period.

Pittsburgh Steel Mills Show Big Improvement

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—The steel industry is producing at a higher rate than at any time since last spring and from recent developments, this high rate is assured for the remainder of this month, February and March. Specifications on bars, shapes and plates during the last month were not only ahead of shipments but exceeded orders received in the previous monthly period. Wire mills have been recipients of heavy specifications and an operating rate of at least 80 per cent of capacity seems assured.

State Body Postpones Action On L. A. Letter

The board of directors of the California Real Estate association by unanimous vote deferred action on the letter of withdrawal filed by the Los Angeles Realty board until the spring meeting, and unanimous desire was shown by all the directors to have the local board reconsider its action. The board took similar action with respect to the proffered resignation of the State Director Edwin G. Hart, former president of the board. The board sent telegrams of congratulations to President-elect C. C. C. Tatum, First Vice-President-elect Harry H. Culver and Treasurer-elect Robert Baker of the Los Angeles Realty board.

Tri-County Highway Is Prepared For Opening

The formal opening of the new tri-county highway from Santa Barbara to Bakersfield on March 15 will mark the opening of many thousands of acres of lands in the Cuyama valley to settlement, according to the California Real Estate association. More than $2,000,000 has been spent on the construction of the road, over a period exceeding ten years. It will be the only lateral between Santa Barbara and Kern counties.

Dry Agents Watching Corporations, Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Federal prohibition authorities are forced to maintain a constant watch over some of the nation's largest industrial corporations to prevent "bootlegging operations," it was revealed by the Couzens senatorial investigation of dry law enforcement. This was reported to the investigating committee by Victor Simonon, counsel for the prohibition unit, while testifying to the alleged illegal sale of 342,000 gallons of alcohol by agents of the Fleischmann Yeast Co.

$110,000,000 Is Laid Aside For Improvement

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The plans of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. call for expenditures of $110,000,000 for additions and improvements in the next five years.

RESEARCH HAS PLACE WITH REALTORS

State Association At Work
On Plans For Bureau
To Aid Prospects

The California Real Estate association is at work on its plans for founding and maintaining a bureau of information and research in real estate matters, according to the new president, D. Richard Ainsley of Fresno. Such a bureau, according to the realtors, would provide among other things for the following:

1. State history, particularly the growth of population and wealth per capita in the state.

2. Industries of the state and products of such industries.

3. How and where California is being advertised.

4. Where purchasers of real estate in California come from.

5. Rental and front foot (or square foot) values in our cities.

6. Comparative tax rates on real estate in the chief cities of California and other states.

7. Comparison of existing California state and county taxes with those in other states.

8. Investigation of state income, inheritance, personal property, and other tax matters.

9. Probing the various tax schemes that are proposed as a remedy for all ills.

10. Showing the true value of real estate development, and how the bringing in of additional families to a community and to the state enhances real estate values.

"These and other matters," Glenn D. Willaman, the state secretary said, "can be handled by a research bureau in the hands of a learned authority. California now has 4,500,000 population, and in 1850 she had only 200,000 and in 1870 only 1,500,000.

"The trend westward to this state in the past ten years has been unsurpassed. It is a migration of people that will continue until every available foot of land in this state is under cultivation and supports a home."

"The California Realtor through his state association owes a duty to all the real estate dealers to conduct a statewide real estate survey from time to time.

Realtor's Duty

"The Realtor owes also a primal duty to the property interests which must not only be protected, but their interests must be enhanced."

"Lastly the investor in California real estate will be the gainer by a competent analysis of his real estate opportunities in California. The State association sees this duty to perform to buyer, seller and broker, and as we are getting more firmly established than ever, we will undertake this work."

"Our last state convention and our board of directors at their Fresno meeting, authorized the executive officers to take the necessary steps to bring into being a bureau of information and research."

National Body Helps

The California Real Estate association has been notified by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, through its director of research, Ernest M. Fisher, the well known economist and author, that their services will be placed at the disposal of California so that their annual surveys will not be duplicated in California. The proposed California Real Estate institute will be modeled along the lines of the American Petroleum institute, American Real Estate institute.

The State association's taxation committee is getting into action, and already has received letters of information and commendation from the national tax committee of the National Real Estate association.

House Looked To Pass Bank Extension Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Passage in the House of the McFadden bill to liberalize the national banking laws was forecast by the first test vote. The House defeated by a vote of 124 to 62 an amendment which would have prohibited national banks from operating existing branches. The extension of branch banking is one of the features of the McFadden bill.

Importance Of U. S. Shown In Financial Way

"United States is worth $320,803,862,000, the census bureau announced today, on the basis of 1922 compilations."

That is, word for word, the text of a dispatch that tickled over the wires. In very few words, the importance of the American republic, in a financial way, is thus shown. Comparisons, however, with the latest available figures from other countries of the world, still further emphasize the standing of the United States among the people of the world.

The British Empire, as estimated by a Crown Minister, in Parliament, in 1917, was worth $130,000,000,000. In 1922, the United Kingdom, alone, it was estimated, was valued at $120,000,000,000.

France, in 1922, was estimated at $90,000,000,000; Germany, in 1918, was estimated at $83,000,000,000 and, in 1922, at $150,000,000,000 gold marks, or the equivalent of $30,000,000,000. Canada is placed at $22,195,000,000 in 1922. India is estimated at $35,000,000,000 in 1922. Russia, before the war, stood at $60,000,000,000. There is no venture obtainable as to her present worth.

Japan's wealth is set down at $22,500,000,000 in 1922, and Belgium, in 1920, at $12,000,000,000. Italy is placed at $35,000,000,000 in 1922.

None of the above data as to foreign countries is official or based upon any census of property, such as is taken in the United States. The figures are based largely upon estimates by bankers and statisticians.

Nobility Takes Fling At Theatrical Venture

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Mountbattens, well known in American society, are reported to have taken their first dip in the theatrical business.

Lord and Lady Mountbatten are said to have given considerable financial backing to the production of Noel Coward's play, "The Vortex," which was so successful at the Everyman theatre that it was brought to the West End. The play is a satire upon modern society.

The spirit of unrest discourages house-building. And, for that matter, housekeeping.

320 BILLIONS IS NATION'S BANKROLL

Eleven Per Cent Is Actual Increase Figures Based On 1922 Census

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The United States is worth $320,803,862,000, the census bureau announced today, on the basis of 1922 compilations.

This is an actual increase of 11 per cent over wealth of the Nation in 1912. The figure itself represents an apparent 72 per cent increase, during the ten-year period, but when the 1922 value of the dollar is reduced to its value in 1912, the actual increase is reduced.

Keeps Up With Growth

The increase in wealth just about kept even with the growth of the country and enabled this Nation to hold her place as the richest on earth on a per capita basis.

Taxable real estate made up $155,908,625,000, nearly one-half of the total. Non-taxable real estate was $20,508,819,000. Livestock was valued at nearly six billions, while motor vehicles were placed at four and one-half billions.

Value of railroads and their equipment was nearly twenty billions; that of street railways, shipping, water works, canals and irrigation, was $15,414,000,000.

Agricultural products were worth $5,465,796,000; manufactured products $23,422,848,000; while clothing, adornments, furniture, horse-drawn vehicles and other personal property amounted to $39,816,000,000.

The personal property figure in 1912 was less than $13,000,000,000.

Gold and silver coin and bullion, which formed the basis for all purchasing powers of owners of the $320,000,000,000, was placed at $4,278,155,000. In 1912, gold and silver totaled $2,616,643,000.

Value Of Illinois Farm Crop Set $100,000,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Farm value of principal Illinois crops during 1924 was $525,851,000, an increase of $100,000,000 over 1923, with corn the principal factor in this increase. Acreage under cultivation in the state is estimated at 20,007,000.

Los Angeles Creamery Co., stable, 526 West Park

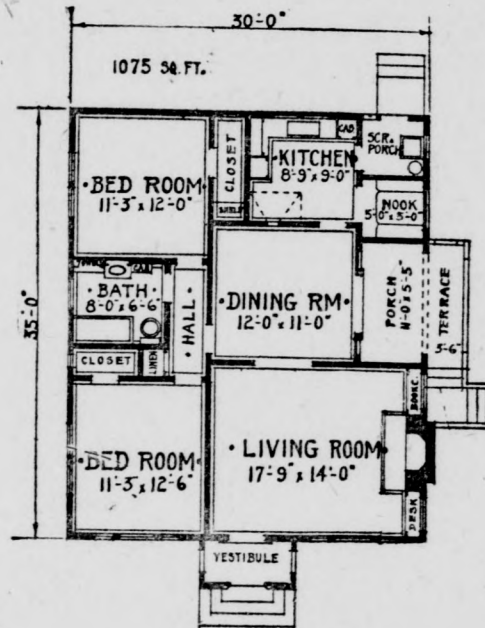

This little model home specially created for your consideration, reflects details and competent execution not usually found in home plans as small as this. Not only has every department of the exterior been carefully considered, but the rooms themselves are just as compact and convenient as it is possible to arrange them.

The wall construction calls for stucco over brick, tile, composition plaster board, metal or wood lath—while the roof is shown in tile, composition or slate shingles would be practical.

There are many features incorporated in the interior arrangement which will make strong appeals. The specially detailed fireplace with bookcases and writing desk with cabinets occupying one entire side, the spacious closets connecting bed rooms, the well arranged bath and modern kitchen showing every conceivable convenience—breakfast nook, ironing board, cooler closet, cabinets, hood over range, and on the back porch is located ice box, heater and stationary tub.

It's a little dream home and you can't help but like it.

Answers For The Bungalow Builder

Q.—What are the important things to watch for when the frame work of a house is being put up?

A.—This is a very important period in building. Unless the work is well done you cannot hope to have a substantially built house. Unless the workmanship and materials are correct you will have depreciation costs which will be much too great. Be sure that the framing materials are of good clean stock without defects which will seriously affect the strength, and that they are put in securely on the bearings which have been designed for them. It is easy to put in two nails where four should go. See that the specifications are followed. In the type of construction which we are using today, known as balloon framing, there are a large number of very small parts. Studs, joists and rafters are made of comparatively small members. Unless they are securely braced together the building will not be substantial. This means that the joist and bearing partitions should be bridged. There should be sub-flooring and ceiling securely nailed to each joist or stud, and the whole system should be made as nearly like a unit as possible. The first step of this whole thing is to get good plans and specifications, and the second is to get an honest contractor who knows his business.

TROPICO CHURCH IS 21 YEARS OLD

Four of Thirty-four Charter Members Recall Early
Prayer Meetings

Two hundred people attended the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the Tropico Presbyterian church held at the church last night. Tropico Presbyterian church first held services at Richardson hall on San Fernando road near Los Feliz road when it was organized in January 17, 1904. The late Rev. William Stewart was the first pastor of the church, and Dr. James F. Winard is now pastor. Of the thirty-four charter members, of the church when it was first organized there are four who still attend the church. They are: Mrs. Minnie Ayers and her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Mosher, and Mr. and Mrs. William Malcolm.

Mrs. Ayers, who was the oldest member present, was given the honor of extinguishing the candles on the mammoth birthday cake. Mrs. M. E. Jenison, the oldest member outside of the charter members, had the honor of cutting the cake. The cake was two feet square with three layers and pink and green icing. The twenty-one candles on the cake were white.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OFFER PROGRAM

Pacific Avenue Grades Hold Civic Meeting With Talks by Teachers

A civic meeting was held yesterday afternoon under supervision of Mrs. Laughlin, teacher, at the Pacific avenue school by students of the fifth and sixth grades. Muriel Curtis, president of the fifth grade, presided. The program opened with the singing of "America, the Beautiful," after which a creed composed by students of the school was read as follows:

"I will work for the protection of others as I would want them to work for me. I will report any dangerous condition. I will do my part towards making my school attractive and sanitary and toward developing thrift. I will try to promote harmony and clean speech. I will do the best work possible. All this I will do for humanity and the honor of my school."

The secretary's report was read by Norma Little, followed by the roll call which was answered with quotations from the classics. An excellent talk on "Thrift" was given by Ellis Quick, and Alice Anderson gave a talk on "Safety First." Different ways of painting pictures, illustrated by music, art and literature, were told by Marian Ferguson. "Melody in F," by Rubenstein, was sung by the fifth grade, and the meeting closed with singing of Keller's American hymn and "America" by the assembly.

HILLHAVEN TRACT GOES ON MARKET

Twining & Myers Subdivides
200-Acre Hill Plot
In Tujunga

Hillhaven, 200-acre tract in the beautiful Verdugo hills at Tujunga, recently purchased by Twining & Myers, Glendale realtors, was placed on the market yesterday with a crew of forty salesmen. Results of the first day's sales were most gratifying. W. L. Twining, president of the Glendale Realty board and senior member of the firm said today.

The tract, offered for sale in large lots suitable for week-end home sites, is the unsold portion of Hillhaven, in the hills just outside the business district of Tujunga. It lies along the state highway, with schools, churches, places of amusement and up-to-date stores within easy reach and all public utilities available. Water and electricity are carried to all parts of the large tract and gas mains are now being installed.

In speaking of the advantages of Hillhaven, as a week-end cabin site locality, L. H. Myers pointed to the fact that the tract is but nine and one-half miles from the business district of Glendale and forty-five minutes ride from Broadway, Los Angeles. Notwithstanding its proximity to thickly populated cities, the tract is absolutely secluded and as quiet as mountain cabin sites many miles back in the hills and reached only after long hard drives or hikes, Mr. Myers said.

Attractive Feature
"An attractive feature is that week-end bungalow sites in Hillhaven will be valuable permanent home sites in the near future. The chances for profit on an investment in the tract are exceptionally big. We are placing the lots on the market at from $402 to $646, prices which can be equaled nowhere even if land is bought in the form of acreage and unsubdivided. At Hillhurst, street work and all modern improvements are in," added Mr. Myers.

Tract sales offices have been established by Twining & Myers at Michigan boulevard and Sunset street, next to the Garden of the Moon. Branch offices have been opened at 117 North Marengo avenue, Pasadena with A. Fitch in charge, and at 813 West Sixth street, Los Angeles under William E. Harrison. J. Russell Johnson is assistant sales manager at the Glendale office on West Broadway.

Local Chiropractor Aids In Unique Case

"Sally," educated chimpanzee, owned by Joe Edwards, of Long Beach, received the first chiropractic treatment given a monkey when Dr. Albert Vack of Glendale, and Dr. Charles H. Wood, newly elected president of the California Chiropractic Society, made an adjustment for an injured spine at the state convention held in Long Beach. "Sally's" spine was injured recently in a fall and the famous ape has not been able to walk upright since the injury. The diagnosis was made by Dr. Vack, who also assisted Dr. Wood in giving the treatment. In making the diagnosis, Dr. Vack used a new instrument which registers the degree of temperature at each vertebrae and shows where there is fever due to dislocations or deformities. Latest reports from "Sally's" headquarters indicate the chimpanzee will recover.

CHAPTER XXIII

"Well, you're right, so far, Slatery," he confessed. "There's a conspiracy here to keep that young woman from communicating with anybody at all, a conspiracy which is entirely against police regulations and which is going to lead to a whole heap of trouble later on. However, there it is, and they're in it deep enough to run a pretty considerable risk. They've tried every mortal bluff they can think of, but their present attitude clean gives the show away. In an hour's time they will be compelled to let me visit her. Until then we'll take a drive round and I'd like to hear a little more of your story. I'll frankly admit, Slatery," he acknowledged as they left the place together, "that my interest is growing."

They drove about for a hour, and Grant confided to his companion a great deal of the result of his wanderings and investigations during the last two years. Hodson listened intently, but he realized the note of conviction in his companion's tone, but he himself kept an open mind. Notwithstanding his official position, he had the instincts and the outlook of a citizen. Deliberate warfare with its hideous wastage of human life and its ghastly uncertainty seemed to him a visionary idea, a phantasm of the disordered and over-imaginative brain. A single person of disordered mentality might brood upon such a cataclysm; no normal group of persons in these sober days was likely to tolerate the idea. All these little happenings and tendencies to which Grant alluded might so easily be traced to lesser things. He made only one comment.

"Supposing for a moment," he said, "that there was the least truth in your prophecy and that a naval attack from outside was to be supplemented by an enormous and wide-reaching internal conspiracy, do you realize what a terrible reflection that would be upon my Department?"

"I can't help it, Hodson," Grant declared. "Of course I realize it. I'm not going to blame you. No one can be blamed for not searching for what they don't believe exists, but I do beg you to remember that if there's a thousand to one chance that my view of things is correct, you ought not to leave my side until we're through with this business. And so far as you personally are concerned, now listen. During the last two years I have submitted between forty and fifty reports dealing with this matter to the Department in Washington. Have those reports been handed to you?"

"Not one of them," Hodson replied. "I had no idea, even that you had ever made them."

"Then you must remember," Grant pointed out, "that at the worst, the chief responsibility rests with those higher up. My reports should every one of them have come to you, and you should have made the investigations on this side to which they pointed. Can you tell offhand whether there are any great patriotic societies formed to keep Germans together in this country?"

"There's one," Hodson acquiesced. "Brothers in Love," they call it—kind of Odd Fellows affair. It exists chiefly for charity and does an enormous amount of good. It must have two or three million members."

"Anything with the Japanese?"

"There is one, but I don't know much about it," Hodson confessed. "It is rather a different class thing, founded to teach the lower classes the arts of agriculture and to keep the others in touch with Japanese culture and literature."

"Quite so," Grant murmured. "I haven't the faintest doubt that those societies are on the surface everything they appear to be. Neither have I the slightest doubt that behind them, committee behind committee, are the people who deal with Blunn and Itash."

Hodson smiled a little doubtfully.

"I'm in a receptive frame of mind, Slatery," he admitted, "but don't try me too high. Processions, brass bands, and picnics are all I can think of in connection with the 'Brothers in Love.' The Japanese I never

THE GATEWAY

The journey of Columbus across the Atlantic in 1492 required no more courage than the trip made by the pioneers of the south in their attempt to establish a definite trail between Texas and the railroads in Kansas.

The first caravan traveling from the Gulf of Mexico to northern United States faced fearful odds—Indians, Carpet-baggers, floods, fire, wild animals and many more obstacles described in Emerson Hough's historical novel, "North of 36," which Irvin Willat produced in picture form for Paramount.

Like Columbus, the first caravan had no guide save the compass and stars. Nobody had ever been over the trail before. Those who had attempted never returned to tell the tale. What happened, nobody ever knew.

In "North of 36," the first journey from the south to the north is told upon the screen scene for scene as it actually occurred sixty-one years ago. Nothing has been left out, nothing added. The true story of the hardships and suffering of the brave band was so thrilling that it required no change to achieve the supreme in drama.

Prominent in the cast of "North of 36" are Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson, the "Covered Wagon" girl, and Noah Beery.

The picture opens a three days' run at the Gateway Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

quite understand. Here we are back again. I see the governor's car here. Now we ought to have some fun."

Grant again waited for his friend, who this time was gone for a little more than ten minutes. When he returned there was a steely glint in his eye.

"Slatery," he announced, "you win all round, so far as this girl's concerned. They've had her up before headquarters while we've been away, discharged her, and they have the effrontery to assure me that they let her walk out of the court without asking where she was going to, or without having her followed. They've just turned her loose in New York and left us to hunt. I don't like it. Come along!"

"Where to?" Grant asked.

"To see some friends of mine, who can tackle this job," was the stern reply. "We ought to be able to find her, before many hours are passed."

Hodson and Grant dined together.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"The Hole in the Wall" will be presented tonight for the last time at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre. Next week, starting Wednesday, the Dobinson Players will present the comedy "Love Laughs," it is announced. The present offering is a weird melodramatic mystery play based on the theme of spiritualism. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock.

Mary Worth, in the role of Jean Oliver, a woman unjustly confined in a state prison, dominates the play. In order to secure freedom and vindicate herself, she associates with a crook gang, inspiring them to mystic adventures through her knowledge of spiritualism.

"The Hole in the Wall" was written by Fred Jackson, from whose typewriter have clicked a score of big Broadway hits. The present offering had a successful New York run, where it was hailed with such enthusiasm as the jaded eastern metropolis seldom accords any play.

THE T. D. & L. Colleen Moore in "So Big" concludes today at the T. D. & L. Theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the feature is "Inferno."

THE GLENDALE William Desmond in "The Sunset Trail" concludes today at the Glendale Theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the feature is "Reckless Romance."

gether that evening in the latter's room, and Grant was in the middle of his promised story of Funderstrom's abduction when the telephone rang. A man's voice asked for Colonel Hodson. Grant passed over the receiver.

"An urgent call for you, Hodson," he announced.

Hodson spoke a few brief words and listened.

"We'll be along in ten minutes," he said as he laid down the receiver.

"Slatery," he went on, "that was a man from Poynter's Detective Agency speaking. They're the people we called on this morning about this young woman. They think they've found her. Will you come along with me?"

"Sure," Grant assented. "Anything wrong, do you think?"

"I rather gathered so," was the grave reply.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CATNIP TEA

"Ker-choo! Ker-choo! Ker-choo! Hack! Hack! sneezed and coughed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped into his hollow stump bungalow one snowy day. And there was a little icicle hanging from the tip of his pink, twinkling nose.

"Oh, my dear! You're catching cold!" cried Nurse Jane.

"No, I didn't catch the cold—ker-choo!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman. "It caught me, and it didn't have to run very fast, either."

"Come right in and take off your wet things!" insisted the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Then I will make you some hot catnip tea."

"Is that good for a cold?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Nothing better," answered Nurse Jane.

"Hack! Hack! Hack! How about my cough?" inquired Mr. Longears.

"I'll boil you up a little molasses and vinegar for your cough," said Nurse Jane, kindly. "Also you must soak your paws in hot mustard and water. Oh, I'll fix you up all right!"

"Thanks," murmured Uncle Wiggily.

So he took off his wet things, put his paws soaking in hot water, and Nurse Jane began to boil the catnip tea, and at the same time, make a pan of molasses, vinegar and butter, which is an old-fashioned cure for coughs.

Now it happened that this very same afternoon, when Uncle Wiggily had been hopping through the woods, catching the cold, or letting the cold catch him, which ever way you look at it, the Bob Cat had also been out in the forest.

The Bob Cat saw the bunny gentleman skipping along in the snowstorm, and also saw Uncle Wiggily splash into a puddle of water.

"Good! He'll catch cold!" laughed the Bob Cat to himself. "He will have to go home and take a lot of medicine, and he won't be lively and smart. I can easily slip in his bungalow and nibble his ears. I'll wait a little while and then I'll take after him."

So Uncle Wiggily had not much more than put his paws soaking in hot mustard water than the Bob Cat crept into the bungalow. Nurse Jane was so busy making the catnip tea and fixing the molasses cough medicine that she didn't see the bad chap.

"Here's your catnip tea, Uncle Wiggily," said the muskrat lady, a little later, as she carried it in to him. "And here is the molasses stuff. But don't take that yet, as it is very hot. Wait until it cools. The catnip tea is just ready to drink, however."

She put the hot, sticky molasses in a saucer down near the rabbit, and handed him the cup of catnip tea. And, just as Uncle Wiggily was sipping that, all of a sudden, in burst the Bob Cat.

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Nurse Jane. "Don't come in here or you may catch my cold!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"I came here to catch you and your cold, too!" howled the bad chap. "Here, what are you drinking? Give me some of it!" he howled, most impudently.

"This is catnip tea," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm sorry, but I have drunk all of it."

"Never mind! I'll drink this, and then I'll carry you off to my den!" snarled the bad chap. With that he took up the saucer of hot, sticky molasses, vinegar and butter, and poured it all into his mouth at once. And then—well, you can imagine what happened.

"Wow! Wow! Scowzie wow!" howled the Bob Cat, dancing first on one leg and then on the other. "Oh, how I burn!" and out of the window he jumped, into a snow bank, to cool his hot mouth.

Then Nurse Jane locked the doors and the windows so the Bob Cat couldn't get back in again, and she made the bunny some more molasses stuff, which soon cured his cough. The catnip tea cured his cold, and all was well.

And if the needle doesn't hide from the paper of pins and get dust in its eye, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily playing ping pong.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

THE BEST EXERCISES FOR REDUCING AND GENERAL HEALTH (Part 2)

The trunk and chest exercises call into play the vital organs—lungs, heart, liver, intestines, pelvic organs, etc., and the trunk is that part of the body that is exercised the least in ordinary life, so special attention should be paid to exercise for it.

Today I am going to give you some good trunk exercises that are especially good for constipation, for constipation may accompany the limited diet.

First: Standing with hands on hips, feet parallel, toes pointing forward. Bend right knee quickly to chest. Replace. Bend left knee to chest, and alternate in this manner for twenty times.

Second: Sitting astride a chair or stool, hands resting on thighs. Body bent forward, back, flat, move trunk to left, upward, to right and down, making a complete circle. Continue for five times without stopping. Then repeat circling to right for five times without stopping.

Third: Lying on back on bed or floor, legs straight, arms folded loosely across abdomen. Bend right knee quickly to chest. Replace. Repeat, bending left knee. Alternate twenty times.

These exercises were taught in the department of education at the Mississippi State College for Women. I got the data from a paper written for Dr. Irene Fatheree for the Medical Women's Journal, for December 1924.

Dr. Fatheree states that the exercises were given to the students who were suffering from constipation, and by the end of the month, they were completely relieved, and the results were permanent. The exercises were done morning and night. Naturally the students kept them up.

Another feature introduced was the drink: a glass of cold water before breakfast and six more during the day, and the eating of a small bowl of bran at bedtime. You can do these things also. (You will have to count a small cupful of ordinary cereal bran seventy-five calories.) If you don't want to take anything with food value take the bran, unmedicated agar. You have to purchase this in the drug stores.

Now to the above exercises, you can add the bending-and-touching-the-floor exercise, arm exercises, and some other leg exercises. Hold on to something for support, and kick back and forth and to the sides, as far as you can, ten or fifteen times, with each leg exercise both legs and trunk. Crawling on all fours is another good exercise for every muscle in the body, especially for the trunk. These exercises are especially beneficial for fat hips and abdomens. If you are troubled with these abnormalities you should do other exercises especially directed to their annihilation. While you are doing your floor exercises, you may do some rolling. You need not roll far enough to become dizzy. This gives an automatic massage.

There are many times during the day when you can snatch a moment or so to exercise, and a moment or so several times during the day amounts to a good deal. While you are waiting for central to answer the telephone (my secretary interrupts: "When do you expect them to do...")—yes, you can dance a jig, or straighten your shoulders back, or pull the tummy in, or your chin, or automatically tense your muscles—anything at all!

While you are waiting for the water to boil, or the curling iron to heat; while you wait for a street car, walk back and forth—Oh, you can think of a lot of things. And remember every time you make a physical movement you are using up a calorie or so.

Stair climbing is a good exercise. Instead of waiting for the elevator, walk upstairs. You may have to walk very slowly at first, especially if you are very heavy, and perhaps take only one flight. Gradually add more flights. After a while, you can walk up many.

Graduated stair climbing is one of the exercises that heart specialists are advising for their patients. If you have heart trouble, be under the guidance of a physician. Don't try to manage your own exercises.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to do this for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me in the column as possible; if they are of general interest, I don't forget the same. I will send you the information I have offered.

There seems to be a tendency, in the modern dining room, to get away from the tradition of food hung pictures of fruit and of dead fowl (!) on their walls, and kept filled with vases of salt and pepper shakers on their buffet or serving table constantly. But the ideal dining room of today lacks this food-suggestiveness. I am going to describe a dining room recently furnished by a prominent interior decorator:

A large brown rug covered the floor, leaving two feet of polished wood border showing around it. The walls were covered with an eoff, satin stripe paper. The furniture of American Walnut consisted of a round pedestal table, six chairs, and a small serving table. The room had an open fireplace which was cheerfully outfitted with brass andirons, a brass woodbox (antique) and stand holding the customary brass shovel, poker and tongs. A small column-like stand in one corner of the room supported a goldfish globe, a pretty sight in the brown color scheme. On the walls were a few marine paintings.

But the most singular note in the room was the comparative barrenness of buffet, dining table and serving table. Indeed the serving table was totally bare, save for a runner of ecru linen and a similar runner covered the top of the buffet and the only ornaments on this piece of furniture were two old-fashioned urns of gold-banded white glass, each urn standing 12 inches high, with a small glass cover; these were placed on either end of the buffet. On the dining table was a 14-inch wide runner of brown tapestry edged with gilt braid. Upon this, in the center of the table, stood a small, round jar of gold-banded white glass, with cover, to match the two buffet urns. There was nothing inside the urns or this small jar.

Then I stood in the doorway of this dining room I was immediately impressed by its restfulness. There was a distinctly refined note about it. "Here's a room," I said to myself, "which is purely utilitarian." At meal-time it is used; between meals it is sensibly bare. Yet it has "tone." I liked it and wondered whether other housewives would not welcome this hint from the up-to-date interior decorator and remove candlesticks, fruit bowls, and vases from their dining rooms? There is a "disturbing" look about an uncluttered dining room; and I believe we should all "try out" this new idea, at least.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the large number received. So, if a personal or self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

A great many young girls write to me and complain of uneven development. Sometimes it is large hips and a flat bust, often a bust much too large for the rest of the body, far too large for modern flat styles. Occasionally it is an uneven development of the bust itself, a matter not serious but one for a doctor to treat. Often it is large legs and ankles and a thin body, and again with middle aged women it is a thick waist.

Now a good deal of this can be corrected without much trouble.

UNEVEN DEVELOPMENT
Diet will almost always reduce a fat bust, and ice rubs will help a lot because they'll keep the muscles firm and prevent sagging. Deep breathing exercise will enlarge a flat bust and build out a bony chest. Girls often develop unevenly, but by 20 are in good proportion. If not, it's time to do something about it.

Fat hips are very often due to a bad corset. If the corset binds in the waist, the flesh will simply settle around the hips. Now the hips can stand pressure, it won't hurt, it will even help by pushing

Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt, of Warrenton, Oregon left yesterday after visiting several weeks with relatives in Glendale. They plan to return here next fall. While in Glendale they have been entertained in the Henry Johnston home at 111 North Everett street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farnham and daughter, Miss Josephine of 316 North Louise street, were guests at dinner Thursday night of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stone of Harcourt street, Los Angeles. The Stones are old friends of the Farnham family. The dinner was given as a farewell to Miss Lena McKinney, sister of Mrs. Stone, who sails January 31 for Honolulu. The Stone family for twelve years and during the time they lived there Mrs. Farnham made them a visit.

Unique Affair

Mr. and Mrs. H. Park Arnold of 1451 Hillcrest drive entertained at an enjoyable party Thursday night for members of the Baptist church choir and the music committee. The guests came dressed to represent advertisements, many original costumes being worn. Advertisement games and stunts were played during the evening and a short choir rehearsal was held. Later in the evening the hosts served light refreshments. Attending the party were: Rev. and Mrs. Ernest E. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wannacott, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Olin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stillman, Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Christ, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Detweiler, Charles Comfort, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Carver, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Van Wormer.

up the stomach a little and some other delicate organs that are dragged down, or that drop when unsupported, or badly held by tight waist bands. Fat legs reduce with a diet. Rubbing them very hard will help and rubbing the ankles or having them baked, or wearing high shoes will do a lot of good. And best of all is exercise. That's the great physical corrective, it sends the blood racing, it exercises muscles, it makes even the uneven development. Swimming is the very best form of physical exercise for it gives you everything you need, including opening the pores and cleansing them, and your body, of poisons.

M. K.: Try rubbing olive oil into your warts every day. If this does not soften them so they wash off after a few weeks, try salt as you did the oil. Warts on children usually disappear so easily without special treatment that it is best to let them alone. A large wart, especially when on face or throat, should be removed by a specialist; not so much that the wart is serious, but there might be some chance of leaving a scar. It is best to never tamper with such blemishes oneself.

Dot.: Lines in the skin of so young a girl as yourself only show that you are a bit run down. Possibly you need to get out in air now to counteract the confinement of the schoolroom. If you are underweight drink a quart of milk each day, one-half of which take not just before going to sleep at night. Massage scalp thoroughly every night, and the increased circulation will hasten the growth of your hair.

Freckled Girl.: As freckles are natural to you, nothing will keep them away permanently. All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the large number received. So, if a personal or self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

PRETTY WEDDING IN SHERMAN HOME

Miss Marjorie Becomes Bride Of Eagle Rock Man at Mother's Residence

One of the prettiest weddings of the post-holiday season took place Thursday night at 8:30, at the home of Mrs. Minette Sherman, 418 Elmer street, her daughter, Miss Marjorie Sherman, becoming the bride of Mr. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating, the single ring ceremony being used. The Sherman home was decorated throughout in a color scheme of pink and white, with sweetpeas and carnations. A wedding bell of white carnations and ferns, and a garland of palms and asparagus plumosus and an altar banked with greenery, completed the decorations in the living room, where the ceremony took place. The bride wore a gown of turquoise blue satin crepe with corsage bouquet of pink sweetpeas and white sweetpeas. The maid of honor, Miss Marjorie McClammy, wore a gown of peach taffeta and corsage bouquet of lavender sweetpeas. C. L. Hamilton, brother-in-law of Mr. Whipple, was best man. Mrs. M. B. Hartman of Glendale played the wedding march.

Mrs. A. E. Parker of Eagle Rock assisted in receiving. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and refreshments of ice cream, cakes and punch were served, by the bride's mother, assisted by Mrs. Ivan Goodrich and Mrs. Minnie Berry. Invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Whipple, Mr. J. Immel, of Eagle Rock; Dr. L. A. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Falm, of Los Angeles; Miss Doris Sherman, sister of the bride, student at Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hartman, Misses Helen and Irene Robison, Messrs. L. L. Place and Paul Hoover.

Mrs. Whipple has a large circle of friends in the city, where she has made her home for the past eight years. She was graduated from the local high school in the class of 1923 and since that time has been a member of the clerical force at the city hall. Mr. Whipple is a business man of Eagle Rock, where he is associated with his father in business. The couple left by motor for the north on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in their new home, 1508 1/2 East Wilson avenue, Glendale.

BILL DING, who has "hooked up" with the Bentley Lumber Co., 460 Los Feliz road.

Bill Ding is in town! Bill is not here to "wash the cups and saucers and clear the crumbs away," but Bill is a regular captain of industry and has accepted a position with the Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz road.

George Bentley wants everybody to meet and know Bill. This new addition to the staff of the Bentley Lumber Co. is going to prove a big impetus to business for George, because a hustler for business is one thing that Bill "ain't" nothing else but. He works while others sleep.

Judging from the above kodak picture, which was snapped while Bill was on a vacation this summer, Bill is not only good-looking but he is handsome. Bill is really somewhat of a sheik, for every close up are taken with Bill and the women of course.

"Well, boys, I'm glad to meetcha," says Bill. "I'll take me a few days to get limbered up on the job, and get a little stiffness out of my joints, but I'll be around your way soon, I'm going to have a little game around to the house some Saturday night and invite all the fellows to help me open up a keg of nails."

Bill is also full of good business judgment, and to prove it, he will deliver frequent messages through the advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News.

Mr. Franquinet is a native of Belgium who has adopted California as his home. He visited his native country less than two years ago. He was tendered a rising vote of thanks at the close of his talk.

Walter L. Cheever, presided at the short business meeting that preceded the lecture. Announcements were made that tickets would be on sale at the next meeting of the association for the anniversary banquet scheduled for the night of February 21 at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Mrs. Ballagh requested the members to bring their paintings to the next meeting to be hung for the February exhibit. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. B. S. Warner, social chairman.

Observe Fifth Anniversary Of Prohibition In U. S.; Mrs. Phelps Speaks

Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, of Los Angeles, past state president of the W. C. T. U., was the speaker yesterday afternoon at the public meeting of the Glendale Union held at the Baptist church in celebration of the fifth anniversary of national constitutional prohibition.

Mrs. Phelps contrasted the sentiment and conditions in regard to liquor 50 years ago and today, stating that prohibition teaches people that liquor is now under ban and also spoke of the greater tasks ahead. She said that law enforcement was the idea of the W. C. T. U. and that what this country needs today is more faith and determination rather than the indifference attitude. Mrs. Phelps spoke of the opportunity of bringing about world peace and stated that world peace was nearer today than prohibition was 50 years ago.

The Baptist church was decorated with a large banner on which were the words "Eighteenth Amendment." Flags and ferns were grouped about the platform. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Anna Bamford, of London, England, who also gave a short talk. Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang a solo and was accompanied by Mrs. Musser. Mrs. G. H. Rowe led in the flag salute and Mrs. C. W. Bacon, president, presided at the meeting, introducing the speakers.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—It can't be true. Yet rumor says it is. Says what? Why, that the New York boxing commission inspired by the fact that Tiger Flowers never clinched with his entire time throwing his fists at the other fighter, may legislate clinching out of the boxing rules.

There is no doubt that a lot of the clinching that is done in fights could be eliminated without hurting the sport any. But when two boxers come together the natural tendency is to clinch for a moment or so anyway.

Most boxers cannot help it and the fact that Flowers can is no reason why a rigid rule should be applied to all his fellows. At the same time there might be a rule that would tend to reduce the number of wrestling matches we see hereabouts. The duration of clinches might be specified, or something of the sort.

One thing is certain, if clinches are totally abolished a lot of boxers are going to get some bad wallopings and that goes for some men with very famous reputations.

Sid Terris, the leading contender for the lightweight title got out of a tight little hole on Tuesday night when he met Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo at the Garden and got by on a shoe string decision.

As every one knows the boxing commission had caused a match to be arranged between Terris and Sammy Mandell, the outcome of which will decide which lightweight shall meet Benny Leonard for his crown. Had Goodrich won Tuesday night the gimp would have been taken out of the Terris-Mandell show. This being the case it is lucky for Sid that he was favored by a referee and judges who discounted Goodrich's five aggressive finishing rounds and placed chief value on the earlier frames.

Baseball Commuter

JOE CANTILLON

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

Reducing seems to be popular

Maybe that's why "Poncho" Joe Cantillon, rotund baseball patriarch, has arranged to spend the baseball season of 1925 commuting between Little Rock, Ark., and Chicago, Ill. If maintaining a set schedule between those bustling villages doesn't cut his waistline down close to the size of a Follies beauty, we'll miss our guess.

Cantillon, veteran pilot of the Minneapolis American association club, signed up recently to be right-hand man to Owner Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. Cantillon will act as adviser, scout and general representative. Joseph decided, however, that this wouldn't be enough to keep him busy, so he purchased a part interest in the Little Rock club of the Southern association. This will demand part of his time.

"Poncho" won his epaulets as a player in the outfield. From the playing ranks he was graduated (maybe the players won't call it that) to umpire. Then he entered his career as a pilot. His ability to take a bunch of has-been castoffs from big league teams and mold them into a winning outfit for the Minneapolis fans won him much fame. The team came to be known as "the old man's home."

Winters find Cantillon keeping open house at Hickman, Ky., famous far and wide as a fishing and hunting locality. Poncho keeps a cherry fire, good eats and a fund of baseball stories ready for his guests, and it is a rendezvous for sport folk from beginning to end of the off season.

Cantillon took on much weight at the end of his playing days. His girth doesn't hinder his activities, however. He still moves about in snappy style on the ball field while battling fungoes to his gardeners or warming up a young pitcher.

DENY REPORTS ON M'CAREY PERMIT

Commission Will Consider
His Application Next Month In L. A.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17.—Denying reports that Tom McCarrey, veteran boxing promoter of Southern California, has been denied a permit, the State Athletic commission announced today that McCarrey's application had not been considered, but would be passed on at a meeting to be held in Los Angeles early in February.

Friends of McCarrey, who filed his application with the board, told the boxing commissioners he plans to erect a huge arena at Florence, near Los Angeles, to seat 40,000.

Permits to clubs and promoters issued by the commission last night follow: George Higgins of the Mission Athletic club, San Francisco, with proviso that he start actual construction of his boxing arena within ninety days; Watsonville Athletic club; J. P. Foreman, San Jose.

Before adjourning its meeting the commission issued the following statement, denying reports that it had refused a promoter's permit to James "Sunny" Coffroth of Los Angeles:

"To correct certain erroneous published statements, and in justice to one who patriotically and conscientiously promoted boxing matches throughout the country during the World war which netted millions of dollars, the Athletic commission of California wishes to state that at no time has James Wood Coffroth applied for or was refused a permit to conduct boxing exhibitions.

BASEBALL

Four teams in the San Fernando Valley league have a chance to finish at the top. The race will come to an end in three weeks. At the present time Van Nuys is leading with ten games won and two lost. Lankershim is second with eight won and four lost. Zelzah and Burbank are tied with seven won and four lost. In the second division are San Fernando, five and five; Gene Murphy, four and seven; Owensmouth, one and nine.

Burbank will have a chance to edge a little closer to the top by defeating Van Nuys tomorrow at Van Nuys. Lankershim will be hosts to Gene Murphy, and Owensmouth will play at San Fernando. B'nai B'rith plays at Zelzah. Sunday's big game, outside of the San Fernando league race, will be between the Pasadena Merchants and Larry Arnold's Sawtelle club at Brookside park. Sam Ross and Bill Pertica will do the mound work for the Merchants, with Barnabe hurling for Sawtelle.

In the Orange Belt loop, the Pasadena Eagles play at Arcadia and Azusa journeys to Glendora. The four teams are neck and neck for the top round.

LOCAL CASEYS TO PLAY SANTA ANA

Glendale Has Chance to Cop
Southern Title; Meet
Northern Team

Upon the outcome of the baseball game tomorrow at Santa Ana rests the possibilities of a trip north for the winners of the state championship, and a battle for the northern title. At present, Glendale is leading the southern section with five wins and no defeats, while Santa Ana is holding down second place with four wins and one defeat.

A victory for Santa Ana tomorrow will throw the two teams into a tie for first place, and it will be necessary for a playoff to determine the foes of the northern team. A victory for Glendale will give them a clean slate for the season and undisputed right to travel north.

According to word from the northern camps, Oakland is leading again this year and has a good chance of coping the northern title. The game for the state title will be played at San Francisco.

Butler to Pitch
"Chief" Butler will be on the mound for the local Caseys tomorrow afternoon. Butler has been hurling his team to victory with regularity, turning back the Los Angeles Caseys last Sunday, 2 to 1. Myers will do the receiving. Manager Harry Manush will play his usual outfield position, and the lineup will be practically the same as in previous games.

Clark, big boss of the Lincoln, Neb., club, will be on hand tomorrow afternoon to watch the work of Myers and Cokington, two fast Glendale players, with a view to offering them contracts if their work pleases him.

A large delegation of Glendalians will make the trip to Santa

BROADWAY SMILES AT JACK'S 'BURNS'

New Yorkers Hear Dempsey
Is Parading L. A. Wearing Banker's Make-Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—When news hit the Great White Way of the make-up Jack Dempsey is foisting upon the public of Los Angeles these days there was general consternation. According to the story the champion has grown sideburns, or, as they used to be called, slugs.

The report is that with these slugs upon the side of his face and his reconstructed nose Dare Devil Jack looks like a combination butler-banker-collection agent—anything but a world's champion pug. And if he keeps on as he is going he may not even have his looks left after his next battle.

Danny Kramer is going to join the exodus to the Pacific coast. Maybe he has planned to go because Lou Kaplan who beat him in New York a couple of weeks ago, will be out there. Or perhaps he thinks that knowing California pretty well he will do better than most easterners in that climate.

Eddie Cannonball Martin, the bantamweight champion who has been suspended until February by the New York Athletic commission for fighting an unsatisfactory bout against Fasana, is only a boy yet, just 21 years old. If he is not well handled by a man of mature years some one will knock him off shortly. That some one may be Carl Tremaine.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

South Pasadena had little trouble overcoming Covina in the opening game of the Central league schedule. The Tigers shooting 26 points while the Covina squad rolled up only 13 points. The game was played at the South Pasadena gymnasium. Kennedy and Taylor were the high scorers for the winners. The Glendale Dynamiters will meet South Pasadena next week.

Burbank High school defeated Redondo, 15 to 7, in a game featured by close guarding by both teams.

Other high school casaba scores yesterday last night were: Downey 19, El Monte 15; Inglewood 14, Redondo 5; Roosevelt 27, Fremont 7, varsity; Roosevelt 26, Fremont 4, lightweights; Norwalk 19, Montebello 8; San Diego 18, Fullerton 16; Chino 34, Corona 15; Hollywood 21, Jefferson 15, varsity; Hollywood 23, Jefferson 4, lightweights; Manuel Arts 26, Lincoln 16, varsity; Manuel Arts 30, Lincoln 14, lightweights; Huntington Park 18, Compton 11, varsity; Huntington Park 16, Compton 20, lightweights.

Stanford came from behind in the second half and trounced the Pomona Sageshens at Claremont last night, 21 to 13. The Sageshens were leading at the half, 10 to 9. Ernie Nevers piled up a lead for the Cards in the final stanza. Tonight the Cardinals meet Southern Branch at Manuel Arts gym, Los Angeles.

ALHAMBRA BEATS GLENDALE, 31-10

Local Casaba Squad Slow to Get Started; Visitors Shoot at Will

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The fast Alhambra basketball team quashed the Glendale hopes yesterday in a lopsided game in the Harvard High gym 31 to 10.

It was simply a case of being the better team. While the Dynamiters have a fairly good team it lacks experience, and on the other hand the Moors have been playing together for more than two months. The winners boasted of a wonderful defense, scarcely allowing the local lads to get shots at their hoop. The Moors seemed to be able to get closer to Glendale's end of the court and throw the ball at the iron ring to a better advantage.

Bowers, captain and forward for the Moors, proved to be the star of the game, riving up no less than fifteen markers. Roche, the other forward, and Mills, running guard, also contributed to their total, each accounting for six points. Roche featured in the fourth quarter with some beautiful long shots from the middle of the court.

Start Is Even

Francis Hardy threw five of Glendale's points while Denney got four and "Hull" Jensen one. At the start the game was even-tempered. In the first canto the Moors threw one basket while Hardy threw a foul. The Moors began to step away in the second quarter, leading 13-3 at the end of the half.

The Dynamiters made a brave fight to catch up in the last quarter and began to toss the ball through the hoop with regularity, but just as they got started the final whistle blew.

Team Handicapped
The Glendale football season has greatly handicapped the Dynamiters. While the locals were finishing the Southern California championship drawing the other league schools were getting in from four to eight weeks of basketball practice.

Coach "Apollo" Pierce is just finishing his second week of workouts with the home team. For the amount of experience they have had, the Dynamiters have shown great stuff, but it will probably take them to the end of the season to get really started. In fact, they will have to step high to pull down second place in the loop standing.

BOWLING SCORES

Bowling fans who were present at Recreation alleys last night witnessed an unusual sight—first game won by one pin, second game won by seven pins. The match, a Mercantile league affair, was between the Brown Drug rollers and the Smokehouse crew, with the Smokehouse crew winning. Nelson, anchor man for the drugists, tried hard to put his team in the lead, shooting 220 in the opening game and 241 in the second.

The Palace Grand Barbers had an easy time with the Red Feathers in a Mercantile league match, taking all three games by a wide margin. Hull of the winners rolled high individual score of the match with 213. The scores:

The bout would be held in the San Francisco baseball park. Walker is scheduled to come to the coast to fight a no-decision battle with Bert Colina at Los Angeles.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—At the full ebb tide of lawn tennis affairs comes an unexpected surge of interest. An "intimate friend" of Wm. T. Tilden, the world's champion, is quoted in the public prints to the effect that Tilden will announce his retirement from active competition shortly. This action, it is predicted will coincide with the acceptance by the United States Lawn Tennis association of the new player-writer rule as formulated by a special committee, and already approved by the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A.

There are several points in the situation that afford interesting material for discussion. First of all, the tennis association, the new player-writer rule as formulated by a special committee, and already approved by the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A.

The answer is no. The rule without question will be approved. Secondly, suppose that Tilden does retire on the ground that, since he will participate in all the important tournaments, his occupation as a writer will be injured if he is restrained from writing about those tournaments.

If the U. S. L. T. A. were to take up this question as it would be taken up by a hard boiled business corporation with an eye solely to the main chance, it might work out to a conclusion that the champion's retirement would prove beneficial, rather than detrimental to the sport.

One of the reasons why some such decision might be forthcoming relates to Tilden's outstanding ability. He is the greatest player of all time and no player now exists who can even extend him, if he does not wish to be extended.

The novelty of seeing this genius of the courts in action has pretty much worn away. In the case of another sport, pugilism, promoters have come to realize that paying throngs will turn out to see Dempsey fight only when he is pitted against an opponent who seems to stand a chance of defeating him.

So with Tilden. Were he to drop the game, leaving Vinnie Richards, Johnston, Williams and the rest of the experts to fight for the title on a nip and tuck basis, it is conceivable, so far as gate receipts and a neral interest are concerned, that the prospects of seeing real battles of the courts would outweigh the attractiveness of seeing a protagonist of unapproachable skill perform.

And again, with respect to the Davis Cup matches, foreign nations in all probability would take a keener and more constructive interest did they know they would not have to try to burdle the altitudinous figure of Bill Tilden. In all this the writer does not wish to be set down as assailing the champion, or anything of the sort. He is merely indicating how the U. S. L. T. A. might feel if they viewed his threatened retirement with hard eyes.

But when all is said and done, the writer has not the slightest idea that Tilden will do as he states that "he may do so." When it comes down to cases the prospects of retiring from the "roar of the crowd," which, a naturally enough is sweet to his ears, and from all the adulation and mental satisfaction that fall to the world's titheholder, it is likely he will experience an appreciable change of mind and heart.

The assignment of Major Charles Daly to Harvard University as assistant professor of military science shows how the minds of the football authorities at Cambridge are trending. Daly, of course, will be used for football. And he will be one of the most valuable men that Harvard could secure. He is an alumnus of the Cambridge university and one of the best quarterbacks who ever wore cleats. It is probable that Daly would be appointed head coach at Harvard for the football were he willing to accept the post. But he has had his fill of that job and will be well content to teach football without saddling himself with the worries and responsibilities that fall to a head coach.

Boxing NOTES

Billy Wells and Harry Galtund failed to live up to advance notices of being endowed with the killer instinct and disappointed a large gathering of ringworms last night at the American Legion stadium in Hollywood. Ring officials called it a draw, but ringworms had a different name for it. Johnny Grella copped the verdict over Herman Auerback in the semi-windup. Teddy Seidman won over Jack Lewis. Joe Reame lost to Charlie Ledger. Johnny Gerardin got the nod over Soldier Gardner. Sailor Ackerman won over Billy Daines, and Joe Garcia and Harry Foley battled to a draw in the opening bout.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Shakespeare was all wrong—"fillums" say so. No less a person than John Griffith

Wary, production manager at Tom Ince studios, says: "The play is not the thing." That makes it unanimous. He calls Shakespeare's words, "that old wheeze," and says it doesn't apply to pictures. That's the highest compliment we've ever heard paid to Bard of Avon. He'd turn over in his grave if he knew his name was being used to endorse some of the things they do "on the screen." "Rather," continues Mr. Wray, through a prolific press agent, "it is the story-telling. Many think the play and the story are synonymous, but they are mistaken."

Mr. Wray goes on with his enlightenment bunk: "when picture producers buy a book, they buy a story." Deep secret—don't dare mention it to your friends. What would Mr. Wray lead us to believe producers buy when they buy a book—a set of china ware or maybe stock in the League of Nations, or possibly a litter of pups?

Another example of meaningless "copy" glutting the mails to newspapers. No wonder Congress has taken up postal carriers' fight for higher wages. It is such trash as quoted from above that weights down the poor postal carrier with its nonsense.

The illuminating press agent's bunk continues: "Many of Shakespeare's plays were not so good as plays, but rather as he told them." His construction made them literature." Another pieceless compliment to Avon's Bard.

Imagine, ye fans, the "fillums" telling the picture industry the writer of "Macbeth," "Romeo and Juliet," "Merchant of Venice" and other gems that went to make dramatic history, that he was a bum playwright, that he didn't write good plays but "rather told them."

No—Mr. Shakespeare didn't write "Unvirtuous Virgins," "Nellie, the Crippled Shop Girl," or "Three Wonderful Nights." He didn't drag in by heels, a cabaret scene for no reason at all. He didn't enthuse over the "final clinch" or make Nellie, the shop girl, leader of New York's society—for no reason at all.

We have received a lot of work turned out under Mr. Wray's supervision or personal direction and we can't believe his intelligence would permit his okaying any such idiotic message from him as press-agent would lead us to believe.

Probably no man in the picture industry is better acquainted with actual production work in the studio than John Griffith Wray, but he presumably has overlooked the publicity department. We honestly believe that his okaying any such idiotic message from him as press-agent would lead us to believe.

We concede that it's very probable Mr. Shakespeare was wrong in saying "the play's the thing," but for an industry that has turned out such "musky" alleged drama as the motion picture industry has turned out, to hold itself on a pedestal above Shakespeare and denounce his opinion on drama as an "old wheeze," is a joke.

But—these press agents have to earn their salary. Their idea of earning that salary is to glut the mails and newspapers with a lot of words. The above is a fair example of copy coming from Hollywood studios as a "lot of words."

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Another member of the Waner family has been added to the San Francisco baseball club. He is Lloyd Waner, brother of the doughty Paul.

Rumors had been circulating for some time that there was a second Waner in Oklahoma who could bat even better than brother Paul, who went to the coast unheralded and promptly set that part of the country on fire by his batting. The scouts got on the trail immediately but the San Francisco men got to Lloyd first.

More good ball players have been coming out of Oklahoma recently than from any state in the southwest. And Lloyd Waner, if reports be true, is one of the best of them. He will report at the San Francisco training camp at Fresno on February 16.

Out in Ada, Oklahoma, there is a local expert on baseball beginners. He is a pharmacist by profession, but those who know him say his baseball knowledge and intuition would have made him a fine scout. This man reports that Lloyd Waner batted .433 in his league, surpassing by 50 points the batting record which set San Francisco on the trail of his brother Paul. Moreover, the scout-pharmacist says the games in which Lloyd played were faster and better games than those in which Paul won his local fame. The Ada man further reports that besides outbating Paul, Lloyd Waner can field rings around his brother. He throws right handed and bats left. Paul throws and bats left handed.

Three major league clubs have been willing to take Paul Waner off the hands of San Francisco, although generally speaking the majors seem to have been passing up San Francisco players. The Frisco management, however, has shown little inclination to part with Paul.

In this connection Paul's appraisal of his own playing and that of his kid brother is interesting. When he was complimented at San Francisco on his batting prowess, he replied: "I'm not so much. You ought to see my kid brother bat."

Lloyd, according to the reports, could have had a major league contract instead of going to San Francisco. It is said that one major league offered him four years at the University of Michigan if he would sign a contract. That sounds like one of the St. Louis clubs.

The young Waner, however, passed up the offer, partly because he preferred to start in where he could be with his brother and partly because he wanted to find out at once whether he is good enough to be a big league player.

The league in which he has been playing is a country affair. But if he can produce as much proportionately in faster company as his brother Paul did, the San Francisco team will show next spring with the kid hitting wonder of the season.

The San Francisco club did well in 1924 and if it makes a good showing this year should have a most profitable season, speaking financially. The crowd is with it. That's why the management is so anxious to hold on to the elder Waner and bring the younger one through.

WANTED!

Capable business man with from $5000 to $10,000 cash or collateral to aid in financing the continued expansion of a rapidly growing manufacturing and merchandising business in Glendale.

The man desired is one preferably over thirty years of age with a successful experience in sales management or business administration who must be quite capable of assuming responsibility and with the qualities of leadership well developed.

The industry inserting this advertisement is one which commenced operations on Jan. 1st this year with one man, who without capital, friends or credit, and in spite of quiet times and the off season for his line, has in that short time evolved an incorporated industry doing business on a cash basis that now employs a permanent, ever-increasing payroll of thirty-four residents of Glendale.

This unusual record of growth and expansion has been accomplished without ostentatious advertising or promotion schemes and hot air, but, to the contrary, is the result of new, bright and intelligent merchandising ideas, several good formulas, manufacturing A-1 good goods, plus real service, co-operative effort and everlasting hard work throughout the organization.

The business is amply financed for present needs and can give references to satisfy the most exacting, including leading business houses in Los Angeles, as well as banks.

Having made a very satisfactory start in covering the whole of Southern California, this concern is preparing to open a branch in San Francisco on Feb. 1st, for the purpose of handling Northern California, besides which the foundations are being laid for the merchandising throughout the entire U. S. A. of a specialty which is having an immense local sale in California.

This necessarily brief advertisement opens the way for some intelligent man with abundance of ambition and initiative, plus an appetite for work, to secure a hard job involving plenty of toil and responsibility and offering as a reward a substantial interest in the early stages of what is speedily becoming an organization of magnitude and wealthy independence.

tersections in the Tenth street
section is being worked out by
A. J. Rose, city engineer, in conjunction with the City Trustees.
A number of serious accidents
have occurred at these intersec-

joint meeting of the manufacturers' divisions of the Burbank and which is to be held at the Santa Rosa in this city during the noon

nature of a luncheon meeting. It is the purpose of this meeting to form a Glendale-Burbank organization with the idea of co-operation between the two cities on industrial matters.

The credit division of the Chamber of Commerce has accepted an invitation to lunch with the Hollywood Credit association on Monday, January 19, at the

has also accepted an invitation to be present at that time, it is learned.

ern Edison Co. in those sections of Los Angeles annexed since the city's purchase of the August.

Discovery of an extinct volcano
twenty-eight miles north of Pasadena has been revealed by A. B.
Call, geologist. The crater is on the route of the proposed scenic highway which the county is planning to construct from the head of the Arroyo Seco to connect with Mint canyon. Call said the volcano has not erupted for more than 2000 years, and is apparently fast becoming extinct.

F. E. Davis Los Angeles attorney, was made defendant in a suit filed for $150,000 damages, involving a tract of land in the San Fernando valley valued at $500,000. Davis is charged with fraud, with failure to live up to his contracts, destroying credit of the plaintiff and misrepresentation. A Rempp, contractor and subdivider, filed the suit. Besides the damages Rempp asks the court to give him authority to sell and operate the property in the tract known as Stone-

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Jan. 17.—Growing pains have again manifested themselves in Tujunga in the form of a new incorporation petition which was circulated the first of the week and endorsed by over seventy-five resident voters, according to reports made at a meeting of residents held at the Woman's club house. George Slusher was chairman of the meeting and stated as his opinion that the issue should be brought to a head immediately. Apparently several other property owners are of the same opinion.

Several leading business men were questioned regarding their attitude toward incorporating a city of the sixth class, which is the purpose of the petition asking the county supervisors to call an election in Tujunga. These men said—nothing. That is, nothing in any way remotely related to their opinion of the move. All seemed to be just as skittish on the subject as I had known you
to be present at that time, it is learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Schneider, with their daughter and granddaughter, have returned to Burbank from Iowa, and are living in their house at 133 East Third

W. W. Young has been elected by the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association to succeed Mrs. G. E.
Arbogast as first vice-president.
Mrs. Arbogast has served in this capacity for two years and resigned because of pressure of home duties. The members accepted her resignation with regret.

The P. T. A. has received a number of calls for blankets and bed spreads, Mrs. Young states.
Sweaters for several boys and also needed, and those willing to donate such articles are requested to get in touch with Mrs. J. C.

changes of service will still be received here.

The next meeting of the Pro-

night, January 22, when there will be a dinner. At this time a
